

A man with great HOPE

Born in Honolulu, Hawaii in the U.S.A
August 4th, 1961, an inauspicious day.
Brought up with his sister Maya,
From day one, he, was an adoring brother,
Who went on to study law at Harvard .

A man with a vision
A man with great hope
In times of division
He climbed the steep slope.
Like Moses in his time
Justice is his prime
A man with great hope
Who wants all races to unite and cope.

A smart man to lead that great nation
Lead it away from the greed, hate and oppression.
With great fervor he pushed ahead
“Yes we can” were the words he said
Winning hearts, minds and debates,
To become the President of the United States.

He stood his ground,
Crossing the barriers for those who were bound
To defeat the great giant
Hate, which is so defiant,
The Goliath of inequality, racism and hate
This is the obstacle for people to relate
So change and hope came to America at last
Change and hope for people of all class.

What I learn from him is that hope,
And determination to cope,
Will bring to you to the top of any high slope
Keeping in mind this rule,
Learning from mistakes and keeping it cool,
You can't win a race if you're looking back,
Top runners will state it's the first rule of the track.

A tribute to Barrack Obama
By Bertrand D' Souza

